

Dear Parents,

I want to let you know about an exciting event that you and your child can participate in on Saturday, May 5th from 11 to 1.

It's the International Share A Dream Day Celebration at the National Constitution Center on Independence Mall in Center City Philadelphia: 525 Arch Street, Philadelphia, PA 19106.

This year in school, your child has participated in a program for thinking about the future and what matters most to them most--their dream. They've expressed this in a flag with words and art and connected it to others on a line. All of the flags are the same size to teach that we all have equal value. All of the flags are attached to a line to teach that, connected to each other, we can reach in the direction of our dreams more publicly and powerfully.

We're inviting you to help us teach these powerful lessons and have a morning of fun by attending the event with your family on May 5th. It's free and open to the public.

There will be thousands of flags expressing the dreams of children from all over.

Put this web address in a phone or computer to see a short Youtube video from last year:
bit.ly/hopeflies

From 11-12 there will be activity tables with free dream related activities and games.

From 12-1 there will be the Share A Dream segment when students will be invited to share their dreams from the stage.

This in an inspiring and fun way to spend a few hours with your child Saturday, May 5th, and I hope you can join us.

